

Roberto Giannuzzi received his MSc degree in Materials Engineering from the University of Salento in 2009 and his PhD degree in Bio-Molecular Nanotechnology from the Italian Institute of Technology in Lecce in 2013. He is currently a research fellow at CNR Nanotec. His research interests include electrochemical fabrication of nanostructured materials and thin films, electrochemistry, and (spectro)electrochemistry of semiconductors.