

Biography

Andrea Ienco is a senior research at Cnr-Iccom. He was educated at looking for correlations between structure and properties during almost two years stay in the group of Roald Hoffmann at Cornell University. Using crystallography and applied theoretical chemistry, he recently explores the chemistry of phosphorene and its interaction with small molecules and metal fragments.