

Dr. Romaine Isaacs is a Senior EM Applications Engineer at Zeiss Industrial Metrology working on Additive Manufacturing Process and Control. His primary focus is developing quality control and assurance solutions for metal additive manufacturing. He specializes in charged particle microscopy including SEM, FIB and LM microscopy applications to support the full supply chain from powder feedstock to final part certification.