

Anna Mangini is a PhD candidate in the Electrochemistry Group of the Department of Applied Science and Technology (DISAT), Politecnico di Torino. She is working on different electrochemical devices for energy storage based on post Li-ion technologies.

In particular, her work is focused on lithium metal anode rechargeable systems as lithium-sulfur and lithium-gas batteries.