

Biography

Dr. Alfonso Policicchio took his Degree in Physics at University of Calabria in 2004 where, subsequently, he got his PhD in 2007. He attended the Brookhaven National Laboratory, New York (USA) and in the 2009 he spent time at the Material Science & Engineering Department of the Georgia Institute of Technology - Atlanta (USA). Until 2017, he earned a postdoctoral fellowship at the Physics Department - University of Calabria then in 2018 he moved to New York (USA) as research associate at the City College (CUNY). Today he is researcher at the Department of Physics at the University of Calabria.