

Daniele Sassone is a PhD Student of Polytechnic of Turin working in the department of Science of Materials. Graduated in Chemistry at the University of Turin, with a thesis about the homogeneous electrochemical reduction of CO<sub>2</sub> by metal complexes, he characterized his PhD switching to heterogeneous system in which solid materials were employed as solid electrodes.