

Mattia Tiboni is a PhD student in pharmaceutical sciences at the University of Urbino Carlo Bo. After the master's thesis in nanomedicine performed at the University of Helsinki, his PhD project is mainly focused on innovative manufacturing systems such as 3D printing and microfluidics with a particular interest in nanomedicine and nanotechnology.